

THE DAYS BETWEEN

Maya & Theo

There was no lightning-bolt beginning. Maya and Theo met on a Tuesday, over a borrowed charger and a meeting that ran too long.

What followed looked ordinary from the outside: grocery lists, train platforms, burnt dinners, and calls that lasted until one of them fell asleep.

But this is how they built a life - not from perfect days, but from the habit of showing up for the imperfect ones.

Today is not the start of their story. It is the day they gather the people who helped carry it here, and say out loud what their lives have already proven.

SUGGESTED SCENE RHYTHM

00:00 Guests and venue in natural motion
00:14 Notes, objects and preparation
00:31 Family and unscripted laughter
00:50 Entrance, reactions and ceremony wide

Names and story details are invented for this portfolio sample.