

BETTER TIMING

Ava & Marcus

Marcus says their story began when Ava smiled at him across the room. Ava says it began ten minutes later, when he finally realized she was smiling at the dog behind him.

Their timing has improved since then.

Together they have survived three apartments, one disastrous camping trip, and an ongoing disagreement about the correct way to load a dishwasher.

Somewhere between all the teasing and takeaway dinners, they became each other's safest place. Today, they are making it official - bad directions, stolen blankets, and all.
